For the Feast of St. Francis of Assisi, the students displayed their various talents: singing, choral speaking, poem recitations, and magic tricks!

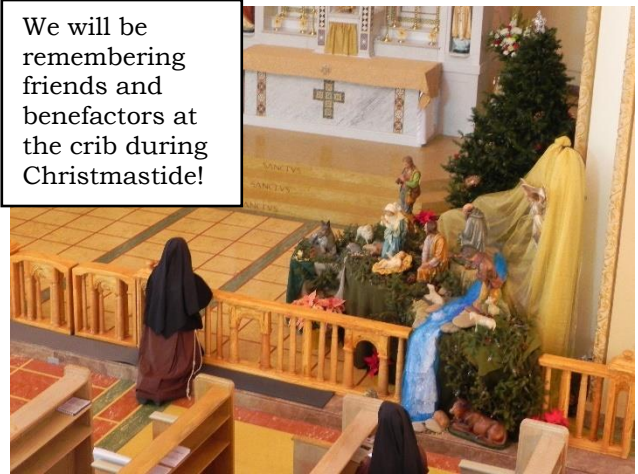

Yes, the eight-year-old is really using a hammer drill! His Dad was right beside him, and the process was actually quite safe. We needed more natural light in the adjoining room in hopes of growing plants using hydroponics.

On the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, we enjoyed a delicious supper donated by a benefactor.

We will be remembering friends and benefactors at the crib during Christmastide!

The roof of the northwest corner of the convent is almost complete. Just after our last newsletter went out, we started to have problems with trespassers. Volunteers have replaced some of the old fence, but there is still over 800 feet left to replace, and due to local codes it must be the decorative kind. We hope to add a gate across the entrance to the driveway, which needs to be replaced first. We still hope to paint the chapel, and will keep you updated with our progress.
